

Dear Mad Reading Folk,

Please join us for a social catch up to mark the end of the year! Bring along a cuppa or a snack and your enthusiasm – we'd love to use this as an opportunity to regroup and hear from attendees about topics you'd like to see next year.

As we all know, it's been a tough couple of years, and it would be great to spread the load a bit if anyone is keen to take up the mantle of supporting the group. Zara has offered to continue using their expertise to co-facilitate and Antonia is happy to keep supporting the admin side of things like mailouts and the website, but if you are looking for a volunteering opportunity please let us know. It would be a great help to have someone liaising with members coordinating topics from time-to-time!

Time and date:

Monday 12th December, 7pm Naarm/Melbourne time (reminder that we are now in Daylight Savings time – AEDT – which could make the time challenging for overseas members!) Please note the change of usual day. Hopefully Monday gives more people a chance to attend, and we can use some of the time to discuss next year's schedule together as a group.
